This book has been prepared to respond to the needs of this issue by considering the fact that the number of publications in this issue is very small and the dates are too old in our country.

In this book, some kinds of trees and shrubs used in landscape areas are added as ornamental plants. When these plants are selected, those benefiting from wood or fruit are not included. Only the willow tree from these trees was accepted as "ornamental plant" because it was used as a landscape plant, but only the important ones were given to the harmful ones. At the end of the book, a list of the harmful plants on the ornamental plant has been given up to the present.

There are many harmful species that damage ornamental plants. However, the most common and economically damaging species in this book are described.